

Week in Review

I have planned to have all assignments done by Saturday this week, but an emergency took over. I found mold in my bathroom causing me to spend the whole day breaking apart walls and bagging moldy drywall. I have no late assignment, but missed the reply deadline for the call to action. I research how to charge and flowcharts on Lynda.com. My feedback this week was about fifty percent because of no replies to call to action.

Reflect and Connect

My time and endeavor this week would help me achieve my goal of completing all assignments on time. One lesson I learned this week is complete, all assignments at the beginning of the week just in case you incur an emergency. What I have learned relates to my past website administration degree and will surely aid me in my journey to being a website design/development.

GitHub Link

https://github.com/yloudort/Yadley\_Loudort\_Portfolio.git